

Testing Options for UHC families

Every homeschooled student can be tested by the public school system at no cost since you are a resident of a county. Please also note that if you think your child will need special accommodations such as extra time on the SAT or ACT, you must have testing documentation in place before placing this request. Additionally, if your child will need any of these accommodations in college, testing must be done prior to then. If you wait until they graduate or turn 18, you will no longer have the no-charge option through your school district.

Private Testing:

Private testing is always an option, but do understand that it is rather expensive and all costs incurred will be the responsibility of the family. Costs typically range from $2000-2500.00. Some private testing groups do accept insurance, so it is helpful to ask when setting up an appointment.
